
The VOS Scorecard Preview

What the Vessel Operating System actually measures, and what your score means.

Most agency scorecards ask what you think about your business. VOS is different: it's a tracked system you use throughout an engagement, not a one-off form you fill in once and forget. This preview shows you the shape of it, so you know what you're looking at before you take the free assessment.

THREE PILLARS, NINE AREAS

VOS scores three pillars separately, because a business can be strong in one and weak in another at the same time, and that gap is usually where the risk is hiding.

The Bridge: Vision & Strategy

Where the business is steered from: alignment, strategy, and the plan the whole team is actually rowing towards. A shaky Bridge means people work hard but pull in different directions.

- Clarity & Alignment: whether the line between what only you can do, and what simply ended up with you, has ever been made explicit.
- Strategy & Positioning: whether the business is built around one clear route to market, or several at once with no stated lead.
- Planning & Rhythm: whether there's a real, current plan guiding the next quarter, not just a wish, and whether revenue concentration risk is known and planned for.

The Hull: Systems & Cash

What keeps the business watertight and moving: the money, the numbers you steer by, and the processes that deliver what you sold. A business can have a brilliant Bridge and still take on water here.

- Cash & Margin: whether you know what you actually make on what you sell, at the level of a single product or service line.
- Measurement & Control: whether there's one trusted source for the numbers that matter, or several conflicting ones.
- Operations & Delivery: whether delivery runs on documented process, or on you personally being in the room.

The Cargo Hold: Product & Marketing

What you actually carry to market: the demand you create, what you sell, and the customers who come back. A full Cargo Hold with a weak Hull sinks; a strong Hull with an empty one goes nowhere.

- Revenue Engine: whether you know what a customer costs to win, and what one is worth.

- Product & Innovation: whether your offer changes deliberately, or drifts, and whether quality problems are tracked as a number.
- Customer & Retention: whether anything actively brings customers back, or retention just happens or doesn't.

WHAT YOUR SCORE MEANS

VOS produces a Business Health score from 0 to 100, and bands it in plain language:

SCORE	BAND
0-39	Needs Attention
40-54	Developing
55-69	Solid Foundation
70-84	Strong
85-100	Excellent

Alongside the score, VOS names where the business actually sits, not as a judgement on you, but as a description of the system around you:

Trapped: cash is tight and you are the business, everything waits on you. Fragile: profit exists but feels fragile, and the hours are punishing. Stabilising: processes are forming, you can step away occasionally. Scaling: strong systems and margin, you lead, others run the day-to-day. Liberated: the business runs without you, you choose the work you do.

WHY THIS IS DIFFERENT

Every serious competitor in this space leads with an emotional headline, "stop running your agency, start leading it", and then drives engagement with a static scorecard: fill it in once, get a PDF, move on. None of them are willing to state a guarantee, and none of them give you a system you actually live inside through the engagement.

VOS is different on both counts: it's tracked, not one-off, and it's backed by a guarantee. If, by the end of month one, VOS hasn't produced a specific, named item you can point to and say "that's now off my desk", you don't pay for months two and three.

SEE WHERE YOU ACTUALLY STAND

This preview tells you what VOS measures. It doesn't tell you where you sit, because that's the point of taking it.
